Ice Breaker Questions for Kids

Kids are very shy when it comes to initiating conversations and socializing. Pick some great ice breaker questions for kids mentioned below, so that they can get to know people and open up to them as well...

It can be a very difficult task to get kids talking. And when they start it's even more difficult to make them stop! But communication is a very important lesson that you need to teach your children. If your kids are timid and scared to converse with people, it is not a good sign, as this fear can lead to others like low confidence and stage fright. Kids always imitate their elders and try to behave like them. Hence, if you want your kids to be extroverts, talk to them as much as you can. Strike conversations with them, so that they develop the ability to start one on their own. If you are a parent or a teacher looking for some questions for kids, that would help start the conversation, you can find many interesting ones in the following paragraphs. Use these ice breakers for kids, either at home or for class activities, so that kids find it easy to talk freely and develop their confidence.

Conversation Starters for Kids

If you are at home, school, at a party, or any other event related to kids, it's great to have some fun ice breaker activities like games and questions. These activities helps kids to socialize with other kids and make new friends. Like adults, even children get along with specific types of personalities and by getting to know each other they realize who they are more comfortable with. Even though games are the easiest way of breaking the ice among kids in schools and at events, ice breaker questions are also a great choice for the same. These questions can be used at events where kids are in the age groups of 4 to 12 years, as kids at this age can read well. You can use questions from the following list and make any event enjoyable!

Fun Get to Know You Questions for Kids

The best way to use ice breaker questions for kids at any event is to make a game out of them. You can have all the kids divided in groups of three or four. Write a number of funny questions on chits and place them in a bowl. Shuffle them and ask each kid to pick a chit. Make them answer the questions either to their group members or to everyone! These conversation starters or 'get to know you' questions for kids are a fun activity at many events. Take a look at a few such fun icebreaker questions put together just for you.

- What would you like to be other than yourself?
- Which superhero would you like to be and why?
- What kind of magical power would you like to have?
- Which food would you like to eat endlessly?
- Which other name would you like to be called by if not your own?
• Where would you choose to live, the ocean or the moon?
• If you had the chance to transport yourself, where would you go and why?
• If you had to give up a favorite food, which would it be and why?
• Who's your favorite comic strip character, would you like to be it?
• Which animal would you prefer to be and why?
• If you were a flavored ice cream, which one would you like to be and why?
• Name one incident where you got into big trouble with your parents.
• What is one of your favorite things about a family member.
• What are your favorite hobbies?
• What are your favorite toys and which are the ones you don't like playing with?
• What are your pet peeves or interesting things about you that you dislike?
• What do you love to do the most in the world?
• What is one food you'd hate to waste and can't let others waste too?
• Do you like reading books, which is your favorite of all time?
• Which television program do you love watching and can't miss even in the worst situation?
• What do you love about summer and what can you do for hours?
• Who do you consider your hero?

With these cool and funny ice breaker questions, hope you found some interesting ones you can use. So, let your kids have a great time finding new friends and make the parties enjoyable!

By Aparna Jadhav
Published: October 22, 2010